"Corona Borealis" is the constellation represented by Ariadne, the daughter of King Minos of Crete. Here she lies heartbroken and asleep after being abandoned by Theseus, laying protected by the nature that surrounds her. However, she is then discovered by the god Dionysus, who falls in love with her and creates the constellation 'Corona Borealis'. Placing a beautiful crown of stars in the sky to mark her beauty and their eternal bond. The 'Corona Borealis' reminds us of the transcendent and transformative nature of love.
