Description

Conservation Framed with AR70 Glass.

Since their initial creation during lockdown, the skeleton pieces have quickly gained momentum as one of Kristjana's most popular artwork styles. Despite being stripped back to the barest of human structures, emotions in the guise of flora and fauna run high through the web of bones, revealing inner most feelings and secrets which can only be interpreted by the viewer.

There is poetry in these violet-hued bones, the glowing torch leading directly to an exposed and beating heart, encircled by a mass of rainbow coloured flowers and adorned by pendulous gems. This skeletal being will be light of your life. Feathered wings lift weightless feet high above the clouds while a telescope scans the radiant skies to capture every essence of ethereal love.
